Title: Noise Testing - Anitech
Description: Anitech Noise Assessment provides occupational noise surveys to employers of all sizes, from small family business's to large government bodies. We work closely with you and provide an independent detailed risk assessment with the goal being to provide the information and direction needed by management to control noise in the workplace.
Anitech Noise Assessment guarantees an independent report and will only recommend hearing protection as an absolute last resort. The noise exposure testing equipment we use meets or exceeds the requirements of the relevant Australian Standards. Our equipment is tested and certified regularly and documentation can be provided.
